

Your trained safety advisor is

Trained safety advisors are here to ensure you can safely conduct your work duties and that your work environment supports a healthy life.

Your trained safety advisor will work with you to identify and find solutions to risks or hazards in your workplace. Contact your trained safety advisor or your workplace health and safety representative if you have any concerns about workplace health and safety in your area.

Find out more at www.worksafe.qld.gov.au